

ParkCheck

A measure of user expectation and satisfaction with quality of parks

A new industry tool is now available

Yardstick already provides the quantitative measurement of asset provision and service delivery. ParkCheck is now available to measure the qualitative aspects of service provision.

What is ParkCheck?

- ✓ ParkCheck is a park user intercept survey that has been developed by a group of parks managers
- ✓ It provides you with a ready made set of questions, a robust methodology, survey implementation instructions, training and tools.
- ✓ It enables participants to add a few specific questions to survey
- ✓ Survey data is supplied to a professional research company who analyse the data and produce a report containing results from all the participating Councils that enables comparison and benchmarking.

Why do you need ParkCheck?

Reasons for surveying park users include:

- ✓ To influence resource allocation and budget setting
- ✓ To inform and make choices between competing priorities
- ✓ To assist in setting customer based service levels
- ✓ To drive asset management planning
- ✓ To measure how well we are doing
- ✓ To assist in setting and measuring performance measures
- ✓ To enable interaction with the customer, and not least
- ✓ To provide an element of independence in measuring service levels and user expectations

ParkCheck provides a sound methodology and a cost effective way of achieving these outcomes

Management

- ✓ ParkCheck is managed by IPWEA in association with NZRA and project managed by Prophet IAM Ltd
- ✓ ParkCheck is run in association with SIL Research Ltd who provide a number of specific inputs to the project to ensure that the methodology and results meet accepted practice in market research
